Disclaimer

1. This ultrasound examination is performed to assess fetal anatomy and detects potential abnormalities. However, no scan can guarantee the detection of all congenital or developmental anomalies. Some conditions remain undiagnosed due to factors such as fetal positions, gestational age, maternal body habitus or technical limitations.
2. This report should be interpreted in conjunction with patient's medical history, prior screening and other diagnostic tests. The findings are not standalone and must be reviewed by a qualified healthcare provider.
3. The healthcare facility and personnel involved in the scan shall not be held liable for undetected anomalies or subsequent pregnancy outcomes beyond the scope of standard practice.
